"The Global Leadership Academy’s objective is to enable change on a personal, organizational, and systemic level. Our programmes take an emergent approach to change – we don’t formulate the objectives for change initiatives, instead, we provide an enabling space where new ideas can be sparked, networks created and paths to change tried and tested."

By transformation process we mean anything that transferred new thinking and acting into your own context, e.g. a new project you have started, events that you have held on the basis of an inspiration through the Lab, a new product you have created, an organisational routine you have changed, a new partnership you are working towards...

The Passion and Politics Lab (2012 – 2014)
Some individual projects are implemented jointly by several participants.

Project Title: Reproductive Health in the curriculum for youths in member states of the League of the Arab States

Participants & further information: Sali Mohsen Hafez

80% of the propositions made in the Youth Coalition’s position paper were approved by all member states of the League of the Arab States and found their way into the ICPD Beyond 2014 Cairo Declaration. Thanks to the role plays and experiences in the Passion and Politics Lab, Sali was able to guide the Youth Coalition in the negotiations with those stakeholders who firmly rejected the idea of including a sexual and reproductive health syllabus in the formal educational curriculum.

Country: League of Arab States  SDGs: 3, 5
Project Title: 1st Conference ‘North African International Model United Nations’
Participants & further information: Maria Difallah

NAIMUN 1st Annual conference welcomed more than 200 delegates all over North Africa and from all over the world, it provided the hallmark of United Nations in its efforts and proper function. Goal: Supporting young people in translating their ideas into projects for social and civil-society involvement.

Country: Algeria
SDGs: 4

Project Title: Mohazzaboon
Participants & further information: Amr El Fass

Initiative for promoting ethical principles in politics and society. In the Passion and Politics Lab, Amr got to know innovative approaches to multi-stakeholder management, thanks to this, Mohazzaboon was developed into a virtual community of more than 11 million people. About 100 volunteers continuously work towards making Mohazzaboon’s vision reality. In 2014, the Egyptian Government invited Mohazzaboon to work as an independent strategic partner in the National Population Council of Egypt. The Mohazzaboon idea has spread Sudan, Syria, Tunisia, Morocco and the Palestine.

Project Title: Transformation Hub

Participants & further information:
The intention of this prototype is to create a “hub”, located in Brazil, where systemic changes in the direction of a more sustainable, equitable and just society will be prototyped and taken into practice. The Hub will adopt a multi-sector, cross-disciplinary, and multi-intelligence approach, linking science, societal transformation and mindfulness into a coherent framework of awareness-based action research. This hub, besides primarily orienting its initiatives to supporting the desired and necessary sustainability transition processes within the Brazilian society, intends also to be part of a network of other similarly oriented organizations, located elsewhere in the world (Bhutan, China, India, Indonesia, Europe, US, etc.), with which it will interact and collaborate.

Country: Brazil
SDGs: 17

Project Title: Genuine Progress Indicators (GPI) In the States

Participants & further information:
The purpose of this prototype is to catalyze movement toward more effective, triple bottom line economic metrics and realignment of capital investments in the U.S by leveraging state-level GPI initiatives. It aspires to help the U.S. culture and people to heal from the problems stemming from consumer society. The GPI in the States prototype has three primary components:
1. Oregon GPI initiative as prototype within prototype:
2. GPI in Other States:

Country: USA
SDGs: 8

Project Title: Whose Development?

Participants & further information: Rehana Riyawala, Adam Yukelson, Katherine Trebeck, Lucy Duboche

A collaboration between Self Employed Women’s Association (SEWA) and Oxfam India, the purpose of this prototype is to change the way Indian policy makers think about and pursue development. The intent is to create a shift from a model that prioritizes rapid economic growth (with little regard to its quality or distribution) to an economy that prioritizes the wellbeing of citizens and protects, rather than exploits, the environment. At root of this project is an interest in enhancing the wellbeing and development aspirations of young people in India.

Country: India, United Kingdom
SDGs: 3, 5, 8, 16

All prototypes were developed jointly by several participants.
Project Title: 100% sustainable apparel company
Participants & further information: Eileen Fisher

Eileen Fisher Inc., a leading innovator in women’s clothing, was inspired by the Lab to aim for 100% sustainability by 2020 and, in the longer term, to transform the entire fashion industry (one of the planet’s highest-polluting industries). The company is now a triple bottom line company, setting not just financial targets, but environmental and internal/external social targets as well. They are currently in the process of strategic planning work related to these and in January 2016 received their B-Corp certification.

Country: USA
SDGs: 3, 8

Project Title: “Ethics, Education, and Human Development: The Bhutan Pilot Site”
Participants & further information: Tho Ha Vinh

Mind and Life Institute (MLI) and the GNH Centre Bhutan. The MLI is currently designing developmentally appropriate secular ethics curricula to be implemented from Kindergarten to University, and plans to pilot elements of the program across a range of schools and settings starting in 2013. The GNH Centre is well placed as a pilot site for this initiative.

Country: Bhutan
SDGs: 4

Project Title: Gross National Happiness in Business
Participants & further information:

The purpose of this prototype is to change the way we frame and conduct our economy from “us” versus “them” to a business value proposition which builds community by better serving society and nature and engaging the creativity and potential of all citizens.

Country: USA

Project Title: Memory Work in Uruguay
Participants & further information:
- Joint delivery of a workshop on memory work with key (inter)national individuals
- Involvement in shaping national legislation and reparations policy for victims of human rights violations

Country: Uruguay SDGs: 16

Project Title: Improved access to the archives and information
Participants & further information:
In cooperation with the government

Country: Uruguay SDGs: 16

Project Title: International dialogue process on the American aboriginal context
Participants & further information: Jamie Bourque

In June 2017, more than 30 change-agents from Canada and around the world – many of them participants in the initial Mandela Dialogues – gathered in Jamie’s hometown of Edmonton to learn about the history of the oppression of Indigenous peoples in Canada, Indigenous culture, and Indigenous approaches to dealing with trauma. Many participants were deeply moved and are incorporating the new knowledge and learning into their own work. The main funder was National Counselling Services – Alberta.

Country: Canada SDGs: 16, 17
Project Title: Production of a documentary and an interactive digital series on memory work, transgenerational stress, reparations concerning the aboriginal population
Participants & further information: Jamie Bourque
Re-ken-si-lé-a-shen is a round-the-world road movie in which Jamie travels from South Africa to Argentina, Cambodia to Croatia, and finally Germany in search of answers – and hopefully, solutions. With guidance from change agents specializing in collective healing and reconciliation, Jamie meets families still impacted by some of the most catastrophic atrocities of the past century. How do their experiences reflect the Canadian Indigenous experience? What impacts are still felt today? What is their perspective of reconciliation in the wake of their own experiences? What has worked, and what hasn’t?
Country: Canada SDGs: 4, 16

Project Title: Multistakeholder dialogues (government, victims, NGOs) regarding the registration of victims and perpetrators in stupas
Participants & further information: Minea Tim
Through engaging with the experiences of other countries in the Mandela Dialogues, Minea concluded that nationwide advocacy would improve the prospects of change for Kdei Karuna. Therefore, the organisation started to cooperate with UN Women. They are now jointly conducting a series of dialogues, bringing together victims of gender-based violence during the Khmer Rouge Regime, and high-ranking government officers.
Country: Cambodia SDGs: 16, 17

Project Title: Including the Voice of minorities in Memory Work
Participants & further information: Minea Tim
Minea Tim set up a project with one floating village inhabited by Vietnamese migrants in Kampong Chnang. Kdei Karuna conducted research and collected local stories on the history of migrants, dating back several generations. The successful pilot was expanded to three other Vietnamese migrant communities in other provinces.
Country: Cambodia SDGs: 16

Project Title: Virtual Memory Centre
Participants & further information:
On the topic of residential schools in cooperation with the relevant political authorities
Country: Canada SDGs: cross-cutting
Project Title: The Power of a community
Participants & further information: Daniel Rafecas

In 2019 the Federal Judge of Argentina and professor for Criminal Law wrote a letter about his experience in being part of the Nelson Mandela Dialogues since 2013 and the impact the community that built has had on his work. Here is the letter:

Country: Croatia  SDGs: cross-cutting

Project Title: Cooperation in curation of two exhibitions between Stellenbosch University Museum and the Nelson Mandela Foundation
Participants & further information:
The exhibitions titled “Black man in a white man’s court: the forgotten trial of Nelson Mandela”, and “For Madiba with love” were opened in August 2014.

Country: South Africa  SDGs: 4, 16
Project Title: International conference on transitional justice
Participants & further information: Anna Kaminsky, Nenad Vukosavljevic

Inspired by the experience of the unconventional methods and techniques of deep dialogue applied during the Mandela Dialogues, Anna together with other participants initiated an International Dialogue Conference titled “Memory, Justice, Reconciliation?!” in Sarajevo, Bosnia-Herzegovina. International Dialogue “Memory, Justice, Reconciliation?!” | CNA (nenasilje.org). The conference was realised in 2015 in cooperation with the Archive of the Citizens Movement, (Leipzig, Germany), the Global Leadership Academy and the Centre for Nonviolent Action, the latter also hosting the conference in Sarajevo.

Country: Kenya  SDGs: 16

Project Title: Establishment of an international exchange program for scholars on memory work
Participants & further information: Anna Kaminsky
Federal Foundation for the Reappraisal of the SED Dictatorship.

To enable a similarly inspiring experience as the Mandela Dialogues for other memory workers, the Bundesstiftung Aufarbeitung has initiated a special scholarship programme for international exchange on memory work. Every year since 2015, at least three memory workers have spent three months in another institution dealing with experiences of dictatorships and reigns of violence. “Many participants were bolstered because they got to know that they are not alone with their experience of exclusion and hostility but part of a community” writes Dr. Anna Kaminsky in her article about Transitional Justice for the PeaceLab Blog.

Country: Germany  SDGs: 16, 17

Project Title: Publication: “Trauma effects in Latin America”
Participants & further information: Maria Tello Weiss

presented her paper at the panel “Social and cultural trauma. Reminders of past events affecting people and everyday lives of our societies” of the conference “Memory, justice and reconciliation?! International Dialogue”, that emanated from the lab.

Country: Latin America  SDGs: 16

Project Title: Establishment of a Memory Centre
Participants & further information: Wachira Waheire

Formal registration obtained. After overcoming many bureaucratic hurdles, the Centre for Memory and Development has been officially registered in Kenya and is led by a board of five members comprising of three survivors of torture, a lawyer, and a media expert. It remains a virtual center until now as government promises remain empty.

Country: Kenya  SDGs: 16
Project Title: Social Cohesion after Brexit
Participants & further information: Joy Warmington

Three projects in different parts of Birmingham, which use group process as well as other methods to understand more about hate and distrust among communities, and also to explore what community cohesion means on the ground.

Country: United Kingdom  SDGs: 10, 16

Project Title: Creating Jobs for the Young – Opportunities for African Societies
Participants & further information: Elizabeth Maloba

Elizabeth developed a concept for a youth centered initiative that brings together approaches from private sector, development cooperation and civil society to address the challenge of youth unemployment.

Country: Kenya  SDGs: 4, 8, 10
GLAC Change Initiatives

Project Title: Memory Work through storytelling and drama

Participants & further information: Ramesh Adhikari and Rajan Kathiwada

Ramesh Adhikari and Rajan Kathiwada (Nepal) applied a storytelling method they had learned from the Mandela Dialogues in South Africa. On the basis of the stories they collected, they wrote a theatre piece on memory work that has since been acted out in front of 20,000 Nepalis, sometimes in very rural areas, with great success and impact.

Country: Nepal
SDGs: 16

Project Title: Voices of resistance

Participants & further information: Vesna Terselic

Vesna Terselic (Croatia), Director of Documenta NGO, is setting up an international project on "voices of resistance" with Shirley Gunn and three other participants of the MD2, featuring interviews that are meant to encourage viewers to show resistance in the face of human rights violations.

Country: global
SDGs: 16

Project Title: Online documentation

Participants & further information: Minna Thaheer

Minna Thaheer (Sri Lanka) has started an online project documenting the happenings and consequences of the 1983 riots in Sri Lanka, a happening with many deaths and that is hardly being discussed in the public sphere.

Country: Sri Lanka
SDGs: 16
Project Title: Factories revisited - A digital archive on the position of Bosnian factories in the social memory

Participants & further information: Ivana Stankovic

Ivana Stankovic (Bosnia and Hercegovina) is working on a digital archive of personal accounts that picture the ‘daily life’ of youth growing up during the Yugoslavian wartimes

Country: Bosnia and Hercegovina    SDGs: 16

Project Title: Liberation Theology for Memory Work

Participants & further information:

The US American participant group (Doria Johnson, Michelle Caswell, Jarrett Drake) has drafted a "Liberation Theology for Memory Work" in the USA and continues to work on collaborative projects

Country: USA    SDGs: 16

Project Title: Mediation of inter-religious conflicts

Participants & further information:

Rev. Galkande Dhammananda (Sri Lanka) intends to collaborate with student leaders at the Eastern University in Batticaloa to mediate inter-religious conflicts among the university students. He further plans a collaborative project making available stories of the suffering of both ex-LTTE combatants and Singhalese war victims.

Country: Sri Lanka    SDGs: 16, 17

Project Title: Documenting South Asian American Experiences of Islamophobia

Participants & further information: Michelle Caswell

Her project, a documentation of the South Asian American Experiences of Islamophobia, is situated within the framework of the South Asian American Digital Archive (SAADA), an independent, nonprofit, community-based organization that she co-founded.

Country: USA, South Asia    SDGs: 10, 16
Project Title: Faces of Resistance

Participants & further information: Vesna Teršelic

The goal of the internet platform „Faces of Resistance“ is to make resistance more visible through publishing personal memories of resisters in order to simultaneously recognize and redress the harms suffered by victims, foster trust and reconciliation, and thus contribute to preventing the repetition of violations or abuses in the future.

Country: Ex-Yugoslavia countries  SDGs: 16

Project Title: Reconciliation through Art and Storytelling

Participants & further information: David Hernandez

By means of arts, storytelling and other educational measures as well as public outreach, the project "Podemos ser" aims at creating reconciliation and conflict competence and heal both the individuals and the community.

Country: Colombia  SDGs: 10, 16

Global Wellbeing Lab 2.0 (2015 - 2016)

Project Title: Thinking Global, Acting Local

Participants & further information: Robert Axelsson

Robert started a group welcoming refugees after an attack by right-wing radicals on the local refugee camp. He finally became the manager of the camp.

Country: Sweden  SDGs: 10
Project Title: An Ecosystem of Civic Learning
Participants & further information: Frederik Bjork

Contributing to a Civic Learning Ecosystem, based on broader social and environmental values, such as those included in the GNH concept, Lab participant Fredrik Bjork has developed a conscious dialogue space – Conversatories – that brings together diverse actors and people in a learning atmosphere. More than 20 such events have taken place already in Malmö, elsewhere in Sweden and in Italy.

Country: Ireland, Denmark, Sweden, UK, Germany  SDGs: 3, 4

Project Title: A flourishing South Africa
Participants & further information: Louise van Rhyn

A Flourishing South Africa brought to life multiple activities aimed at revitalizing the national vision 2030 and Ubuntu as a powerful connection point for South African society. Lab participant Louise van Rhyn and colleagues have run a series of Business in Education forums linking their work to Vision 2030 as well the SDGs – efforts they say would not have happened without the Lab. At least 1,200 people have been impacted by this commitment to Vision 2030.

Country: South Africa  SDGs: 1, 2, 4

Project Title: Devotion made sustainable
Participants & further information: Maja Göpel

As a devoted scientist, Maja is advocating system transformations for sustainable development and tries to develop new prosperity models. She helped start up the World Future Council, is a member of the Club of Rome and the Balaton Group and serves on several boards. With her research and a lot of passion, Maja is driven by the goal to really understand how societal change and a personal transformation can be facilitated.

Country: Germany  SDGs: 3, 17

Project Title: Giving Love 3.0
Participants & further information: Nipun Mehta

Together with three friends he decided to offer an act of pure giving as an experiment, building a website for a homeless shelter. The charitable act inspired them to found ServiceSpace.org, a loose knit organization that uses technology to encourage everyday people around the world to do small acts of service.

Country: USA  SDGs: 3, 11
Project Title: Strengthen South African Schools
Participants & further information: Louise van Rhyn
Since April 2017 Louise has been working to establish the Coalition for Quality Education in the Western Cape. Her experience as a member of the Lab has profoundly shaped her approach to this work.

Country: South Africa       SDGs: 4, 8, 17

Project Title: Transforming Public Services
Participants & further information: David Bullón
David has founded Micelio, an initiative that supports and connects change-makers in and out of government with a vocation for public service in order to facilitate the emergence of the next paradigm of public service.

Country: Costa Rica        SDGs: 3, 9, 16

Project Title: Life-long learning on the Philippines
Participants & further information: Robert Axelsson
He co-founded the Western Visayas Integrated Learning Centre on the Philippines. His aim is to create a system outside the conventional schools where people continue to collaboratively learn, develop and co-create the future. Thinking up this project, Robert drew inspiration from the Global Wellbeing Lab and Theory U as well as from Study associations and the Swedish Folk High schools. In 2018 and 2019 the center started to collaborate with local artists and free divers to create awareness on preserving the coral reefs.

Country: Philippines, Sweden        SDGs: 4, 13, 14
Project Title: The Kadavu Prototype
Participants & further information:
How to increase local resiliency of island communities? The group prototyped approaches to community resilience in island communities. In this regard, the prototyping team has focused on Kadavu in Fiji which includes about 70 villages, and narrowed the focus down to two priorities: Sustainable livelihoods and renewable energy.

Country: Fiji
SDGs: , 8, 13

Project Title: The Kanan Kay Alliance
Participants & further information:
How to strengthen and model multi-stakeholder initiatives around complex small-scale fisheries management? Kanan Kay Alliance and Future of Fish are working together to address the challenge of how to strengthen and model multi-stakeholder initiatives around complex small-scale fisheries management. The prototype is looking at whether the Kanan Kay Alliance could be a model for other multi-stakeholder alliances looking at community-based oceans management and how lessons learnt might apply to other initiatives.

Country: Mexico
SDGs: 8, 14

Project Title: The IOM Practitioner’s Group
Participants & further information:
How to support the development and implementation of national Integrated Oceans Management in international and regional contexts? The focus of this prototype was to set up an IOM Practitioner group with the aim to support development and implementation of national IOM in international and regional contexts. A first output of this practitioners group was a discussion paper on the challenges of multi-stakeholder engagement in IOM.

Country: global
SDGs: , 14
Project Title: The Sargasso Sea and Fiji Prototype
Participants & further information:

EBSAs and how to mitigate impacts from industry?
The prototype of this group was to develop a process to involve industries in the assessment of industry impacts in ecologically sensitive marine areas and in respective mitigation measures to limit the negative impact.

Country: South Africa  SDGs: 4, 8, 17

Project Title: Transforming Public Services
Participants & further information: David Bullón

David has founded Micelio, an initiative that supports and connects change-makers in and out of government with a vocation for public service in order to facilitate the emergence of the next paradigm of public service.

Country: Bermuda, Monaco, UK, USA  SDGs: 8, 9, 14

Project Title: Increase sustainability and long-term preservation of the Western Indian Ocean
Participants & further information: David Obura

In a partnership with the World Wildlife Fund (WWF) David and his team from CORDIO started to develop a Transformative Scenario for the Northern Mozambique Channel in 2017. The process included three regional cross-sectoral workshops, held in the Seychelles, Mozambique and Tanzania from May 2016 - March 2017. The final outcomes were that participants from governments, communities, and businesses prepared a regional "voluntary commitment" presented at the United Nations Ocean Conference in June 2017, where countries and participants adopted the "Our Ocean, Our Future: Call for Action."

Country: Kenya, Mozambique, Seychelles, Tanzania  SDGs: 14, 17

Project Title: COVID 19 and the Future of Ocean Sustainability
Participants & further information:

Reos Partners, CORDIO East Africa, Lab Participants and further experts

A rapid-response process looked at how COVID-19 could affect the future of the ocean. Seven areas that are key to ocean sustainability were looked at:
(1) Healthy, sustainable ecosystems; (2) Community resilience and sustainable livelihoods; (3) Inclusive, sustainable economy; (4) Equality and equity; (5) Effective governance; (6) Climate change adaptation and mitigation and (7) Awareness and understanding, and identified how, in the short term, the medical response and associated lockdowns are impacting these seven key areas.

Country: global  SDGs: 14
Project Title: Sani Festival
Participants & further information:

A public private partnership platform for communicating innovative sanitation solutions. It’s about co-creating immediate, safe, affordable and sustainable sanitation solutions for people living without access to adequate facilities.

Country: Africa, Albania, India, Germany, Mexico, Ethiopia, Indonesia, South Africa  SDGs: 6, 10

Project Title: The GapApp
Participants & further information:

The GapApp is about connecting the needs and demands of those transport users who currently cannot access demand-responsive services with the interests of transport providers in terms of income and profit. A technical interface brings together the transport needs of people and goods with the supply of taxi and minibus companies, to minimise potential empty runs and at the same time to increase the supply according to demand.

Country: South Africa, India, Ethiopia, Egypt, Mexico  SDGs: 10, 11

Project Title: HER HUB for Entrepreneurial Resources for Women
Participants & further information: Adriana Pérez Pérez and others

The inside of the hub offers classes and workshops to develop her personally and professionally by training skills and connect her to former ‘Luckies/Lucky’s’ and peers. An advisor is provided as well as an informal meeting space and a helpdesk for governmental aid. A health center is free to use and she is supported by alumni.

Country: Colombia  SDGs: 5
Project Title: Inclusive City Planning
Participants & further information: Richard Gevers and Joanne Wangechi Karuri-Sebina

The outcome of their collaboration is the South African Cities Open Data Almanac (SCODA), an online open data repository and exploration platform. The platform provides key demographic data from nine city regions across South Africa. Users can interactively explore and analyze the dataset applying 102 indicators of city performance. By making data publicly available, the project fosters democratic participation and transparency.

Country: South Africa
SDGs: 9, 11

Project Title: Citizen Participation: Shaping Afghan Municipalities
Participants & further information: Abdul Baqi Popal

Abdul, the Deputy Minister of Municipalities developed a Terms of Reference for Municipal Advisory Board (MAB). They provide a space for the public to identify and discuss problems, prioritize needs and share them with relevant departments and sections. This methodology makes people more engaged: The sense of ownership increases, people start feeling responsible to discuss problems and try to bring them to the mayor with recommendations for solutions as well.” The platform facilitates common engagement by various groups.

Project Title: Access to Justice for Women and Model GBV Court
Participants & further information: Irum Ahsan
First step: Training more than 300 judges in one province on gender-based crimes. They realized that it is a very difficult and technically complex field and that they really needed tools to address this issue. One of the tools, that they identified was a specialized court. Second step: Designing and building the infrastructure for such a court. Result: conviction rate of rape cases went up from 2% in 2016 to almost 16% in 2018. Third step: building model courts in all 116 districts of the country and provide training for judges.

Project Title: Migrants’ protection umbrella. Enabling Evidence to Protect Migrants in Vulnerable Situations
Participants & further information: Levinson Alcantara, Anis Hidayah and others

A set of migrant protection indicators would help, as a common reference for all stakeholders, when assessing the provision of sufficient protection for migrants in varied and complex migration contexts. The indicators can provide stakeholders with a wider lens for viewing migration and providing appropriate protection initiatives in a more comprehensive and coherent manner. The proposed indicators would take into account qualitative and quantitative parameters according to different contexts and situations. With such evidence-based indicators, there is an opportunity to create targeted policy recommendations and programme designs that address migration realities effectively.

Project Title: Private sector mentoring. Partnering for economic opportunities for migrant entrepreneurs and returning diaspora
Participants & further information: Paul Asquith, Kyeretwie Akwasi Osei, Steve Tchoumba
There is growing interest among diaspora and migrant communities in seeking economic & business opportunities in their countries of origin and/or heritage. The private sector is also keen to access new markets & returning entrepreneurs can provide a ready access point – as well as local knowledge and expertise – to facilitate this. Government development agencies also have an increasing focus on enterprises that foster job creation & local development. This has the potential to address lack of viable economic opportunities in some regions of the Global South, which is one of the drivers of migration, especially irregular migration, in particular for young people (other drivers include conflict/lack of security, political unrest; also climate change)

Project Title: Migration & Cities. Socio-economic Integration of Migrants and Diaspora by Municipal Authorities
Participants & further information: Paul Asquith, Najlae Bakir
Cities and municipal authorities across the Mediterranean region have developed successful examples of managing migration and in particular socio-economic integration of migrants. There is an opportunity to learn from this good practice, and build on it to develop innovative partnerships between governments, civil society, the private sector and international organizations to improve how cities in Morocco, and beyond, plan and provide services for migrant communities.

Project Title: Migration Intelligence. Beyond Data Analysis for Better Policy Making
Participants & further information: Ulla Andrén, Arturo Cabrera, Estrella Lajom, Sophia Wirsching
A lack of accurate data and profound analysis leads to policies that are detrimental to migrants and complicate policymakers’ work. To achieve the SDGs of the 2030 Agenda, the objectives of the Global Compact for Migration (GCM) offer an opportunity to use Migration Intelligence for better insights by different stakeholders to inform policy-making. This proposal is designed to support smart and coherent collaborations.

Project Title: Business Without Borders. Migration as a Vehicle for Entrepreneurship, Investment and Employment

Participants & further information: Mohamed Ali, Viorel Girbu, Ilyas Azzoumi, Kyeretwie Akwasi Osei, Celeste Ugochukwu, Dr. Axel Boysen

The discourse around migration tends to characterise migrants as job-seekers who would take away employment opportunities from native populations, thereby creating a negative narrative on migration. Far less attention is paid to the role of migrants as job-creators, investors & entrepreneurs who contribute to the local economies of their host societies through the creation of small medium enterprises, or indeed the employment-creating benefits of large-scale enterprises being able to move & operate across borders.

Participants & further information: Anne Hitzegrad, Estrella Lajom and others

We believe that the GFMD needs to make a difference if it wants to remain an innovative and instrumental actor in the field of international migration and development. With a view to fostering multi-partner cooperation, as foreseen by the Global Compact for Migration’s capacity-building mechanism (GCM para. 43), GFMD might choose to sharpen its character as a platform for effective Dialogue in an environment of trust, and to attract participants from various backgrounds. 1) Strengthen diversity and inclusiveness within GFMD 2) Strengthen the effectiveness of GFMD Dialogue formats 3) Establish future Migration Laboratories as a tool for Dialogue within GFMD

Project Title: Webinar Series on the Migration Policy Framework for Africa

Participants & further information: Kyeretwie Osei

“Fifteen years after the adoption of the original MPFA, and five years into the revised framework and its plan of action, implementation at the level of African Union member states remains significantly limited. This is in spite of a concerted program of sensitization of member state policy-makers to improve awareness of the revised MPFA & to encourage harmonization of national migration strategies with the continental framework. […] the Economic Social & Cultural Council of the African Union, with support from the GIZ AU instituted the Webinar Series on Migration, Mobility & Displacement in Africa to help achieve an enhanced & coordinated implementation of the revised Migration Policy Framework for Africa across AU member states, regional economic communities and the African Union.
